

THE COMING WEEK.

Pompador Jim as "Gentleman Jack" at the Theatre.

Primrose and West in Minstrelsy Friday and Saturday—General Gossip of Plays and Players.

"Gentleman Jack," the play in which Champion James J. Corbett is the star, will be the attraction at the Salt Lake theatre tomorrow and Tuesday evenings. The story of the play is an interesting one, and the third and fourth acts give admirable opportunity to display Corbett at his best. In the third act he is shown in his training quarters, in which he punishes the big with almost military dexterity. In the fourth act he appears in the prize ring, and competes for honors with Professor Donaldson. All these incidents are introduced in a reasonable and natural manner, and have to do entirely with the unravelling of the story of the play. He is supported by a carefully selected company. In the Madison Square roof garden scene, many attractive specialties are introduced, including the performance of Dagmar and Dorelle, two remarkable Danish warblers. In this scene there is one very striking line addressed to the champion by his sweet heart, Corbett, as Jack Royden, speaks of his friend's advising him to become a pugilist. She says, "You could not be a gentleman and be a pugilist," and the hero replies, "Oh, yes, I could; a gentleman at heart is a gentleman at anything." Mr. and Mrs. Corbett are well known in Salt Lake, having made this their home, and it was here that they were married.

Primrose & West, with their brilliant company of minstrel merry-makers, are announced for next Friday and Saturday nights, at the Salt Lake theatre. This will be the one minstrel event of the season. Primrose & West are acknowledged world leaders in this style of entertainment. Other minstrel organizations have arisen, fought out their brief life, and dropped exhausted and defeated by the wayside. But year after year Primrose & West have not only held their own, but have triumphantly advanced, capturing stronghold and citadel of public favor. To minstrelsy they have devoted their lives. Their art is their creed. Its furtherance is their ambition; its reward, the realized Mecca of their hopes and aspirations. They have advanced with it; they are bound up in it; they have devoted every energy. They have spared no expense in keeping this most genuine form of American amusement in the very front rank of popular entertainment. This year is the epitome of their career. Their entertainment is new from overture to the final fall of the curtain. They have the best minstrel organization ever put together in America, and their appearance here should prove one of the happiest events of the amusement year.

Green Room Gossip.
Rosa Radt has been engaged for leading support with Joseph Jefferson.

At the close of her present successful season Julia Marlowe will go abroad.

Thomas W. Keene was last week in Montreal playing to very large business.

Kate Claxton played in the "Two Orphans" at the Bijou theatre, Minneapolis, last week.

Marie Walworth has appeared as Viola in "Twelfth Night" over five hundred times.

Marcus Mayer says that Mary Anderson would "play cards." Bernhart was fond of paces.

"The Pearl of Savoy" is the title of Maggie Mitchell's production for the coming season.

Many of Sarah Jewett's friends will be glad to hear that she contemplates an early return to the stage.

E. H. Sothern is not only a talented actor but a fluent and graceful writer and a gifted caricaturist.

Thomas W. Keene has engaged Miss Lavinia Shannon as the leading actress of his company for his spring tour.

A Louisville musician has discovered that the inspiring strains of "Ta-ra-ra Boom-de-ay" are borrowed from Mozart.

Mr. Joseph Haworth was only 19 years old when he first played Hamlet, and Mr. Edwin Booth then spoke highly of him.

Mr. Stuart Robson's engagement at the New York Fifth Avenue theatre will begin with a revival of "She Stoops to Conquer."

Emily Ripli made a success of Suzanne in Mrs. Frank Leslie's "The Froth of Society" at the Grand opera house, New Orleans.

Mario Van Zandt sang in "Lakme" at Put to a crowd in spite of the fact that the usual price of admission had been quinqued.

Tony Denier, the wealthy clown and pantomimet, will erect a large theatre in New York next season, in which special pantomimes will be the principal attraction.

"Venus," the new opera that Charles Alfred Byrne and Lewis Harrison have written and for which Gustave Korke has composed the music, has been sold to Edward E. Rice.

Louis Aldrich has made a hit in "The Senator," which he is playing through New England. On the completion of his tour, a banquet is to be tendered to him by the Actors' Order of Friendship.

Dr. Henry E. Dixey has introduced several new features in "Adonis," since his engagement began at the Casino, and he says he intends to continue changing the specialties. Miss Bettina Girard now appears as Arles, the fairy queen.

Miss Beatrice Cameron, who, by the way, is now Mrs. Richard Mansfield, is a most capable foil for Mr. Mansfield's genius. She is a beautiful blonde possessing great ability, and still holds the position of leading lady in her husband's company.

Manager Charles Froham has made a formal offer to Mrs. John Drew of the Joseph Jefferson company of a forty weeks' engagement at $500 a week. He has already engaged her as the star in the production of Sydney Grundy's comedy, "The Arabian Nights."

It is said that Miss Lillian Russell has hired a house in Chicago and will take many of her chorus girls as boarders as like to come—at very reduced rates. A great many stars might advantageously follow Miss Russell's example.

It is said that Nellie McHenry, while standing on a railway platform at Springfield, Mass., the other day, leaped upon the track and rescued a child that would otherwise have been killed—and then fainted.
